The Louisiana folks are going to give all the candidates for the Presidency a chance to be heard.

It begins to look like Hoke Smith has found out that he did really have an opponent for the gubernatorial nomination.

The new movement for "training negroes for the farms" sounds curious in the South, but there is, in fact, much need for it.

The Newbern Sun says a hot time in the old town is expected next Saturday on the occasion of the Democratic county convention.

That Utica preacher who says he intends devoting the rest of his life to suppression of gossip admits himself not a bidder for popularity among the women of his church.

If Mr. Bryan is so anxious to return that money to Mr. Ryan if he contributed it to the Nebraska campaign, why does he not ask Mr. Ryan for the truth or falsity of the report?

A Western judge fines a deaf-mute for using profane language. The accused could have sworn at the judge for his decision without fear of punishment for contempt of court.

That was a record breaking contest at Durham over the nominations for solicitor in that distrit. It is not often one of the original contestants wins after such a long fight in convention.

The election next fall will be the last in which illiterate white men in this State can vote, unless they have been permanently registered under the grandfather clause. What effect this will have on results of future elections in this State remains to be seen.

The action of the Louisiana Democrats seems to be a puzzle to Mr. Bryan and his friends. The desire to give iron-bound instructions for The ...less is not so great as it was awhile back. His supporters realize this fact and are consequently not so easy in mind.

Next Saturday will wind up all the Democratic county conventions except that of Mecklenburg, which will be held still later. But when they are all over no one can say who will be the nominee for governor. That will be an open question until the last ballot in the Charlotte convention.

Newbern, N. C., June 10.—The game was a cinch for Newbern today. Rain interfered at first but after the shower, play was resumed and the whole nine innings were played. The conditions attending wet grounds and wet ball made more errors but the Newbern swatters knocked the three pitchers out of the box with ease and alacrity.

Wysong was first to go down before the locals, then Johnston went into the box and at last Bussey was given the opportunity of contributing to Newbern's defeat but all to no avail. All were mercilessly lambasted and the support through no fault of its own, was weak. Newbern in addition to heavy hitting fielded the ball splendidly and gave a fine exhibition. The errors were all excusable. The tabulated score:

Goldsboro Blames Umpire.

Goldsboro, N. C., June 10—The Umpire presented the game to Wilson today by a score of 5 to 3. In the first inning Goldsboro scored four runs and the runner was about to score the fifth when the runner ran against the baseman, who was directly in the third base line. The baseman failed to field the ball and the umpire called the runner out and did not allow the fourth run, this out being the third. The fourth man, however, had scored before the last runner was called out. The decision was immediately protested and the final decision will be anxiously awaited. If these runs are allowed the result will be another tie 5 to 5. Earned runs were two for each team. The score:

Wilson	011 010 020—5 9 0

Home Run at Raleigh.

Raleigh, N. C., June 10.—Kinston took the game from Raleigh this afternoon 1 to 0. It had been a hard fought contest through eight innings and half of the ninth without either side scoring, although there had been critical periods, when with the bases full, runs were narrowly missed. At the finish Kinston had two men down when Fox, C., drove a hit over left field for a home run. Score:

MANEUVERS BIG SUCCESS

State Troops Returning Yesterday From Fort Caswell Elated With Sea Coast Defense Exercises With Regulars.

The fourteen companies of the North Carolina National Guard, which composed the provisional regiment for the sea coast defense maneuvers under command of Lieut. Col. J. VanB. Metts during the past ten days at Fort Caswell, broke camp early yesterday morning and came up to the city on the various boats in the service during the day, leaving in the afternoon and at night on regular and special trains for their homes.

Without a single exception the officers and men of the Guard are delighted with the success of the maneuvers and are high in their praise of the officers of the post and army officers detailed by the War Department for this special instruction. Just before the maneuvers were over, Maj. Hermann Schumm commanding the post, addressed an inquiry to all the officers of the infantry as to their view of the maneuvers and for any suggestions that might be made for the improvement of the exercises in future years. It is understood that the reports were unanimous in their approval of the exercises and it is known that more than one of the officers high in authority in the Guard, expressed the desire that the regular encampments of the militia be entirely dispensed with and that the three regiments of the State be detailed each year in lieu thereof to take this special instruction at Fort Caswell, provided the post is available from the War Department. This is the strongest testimonial to the success of the exercises just concluded.

The Wilmington Light Infantry was the first company to strike tents and this command under Capt. Wm. F. Robertson reached the city at 11:30 o'clock on the steamer Madeleine, of the government. All the boys were delighted with the camp instruction and had a good time. Masters Julian Robertson and Andrew Harriss, Jr., son of Dr. A. H. Harriss, regimental surgeon, were the mascots of the company and marched proudly home with the remainder of the "soldiers." The W. L. I. was especially pleased with Lieut. J. E. Wilson, of Fort Moultrie, who was detailed especially to give them instructions in manning Battery Swift with the Regulars. Capt. Wilson, of Fort McPherson, was in charge of the Charlotte and Salisbury companies, in Battery Bagley, and gave special instructions in handling the mortar guns.

The last of the troops reached the city at 8:30 o'clock last night and left on a special train shortly thereafter. Col. Metts remained with the men until the last company had been embarked and reached the city shortly before 9 o'clock. He was well pleased with the result of the maneuvers and his recommendation will go a long way toward having them repeated and enlarged. The encampment was under the strictest regular army discipline and the men were greatly improved by it. The greatest attention was paid to camp sanitation and the like and the men greatly benefitted by contact with the regulars.

The men showed up well with the big guns, these guns having been inspected on Tuesday by a calibration commission composed of Capt. Earl I. Brown, United States Army Engineers; Capt. S. H. Mould, of Fort Caswell; Capt. Wilson, of Fort McPherson, and Lieut. J. E. Wilson, of Fort Moultrie.

The maneuvers on Tuesday and Tuesday night were most interesting from a military standpoint and were greatly improving to the men. Owing to the critical illness of the chief gunner of the 79th company, the firing of the service charges had to be dispensed with, but otherwise the programme was carried out perfectly and the attack of the German fleet make-believe was successfully repulsed.

The next military event with the State National Guard will be when eleven companies of the Second Regiment, National Guard, will attend the maneuvers at Chickamauga battlefield, which will last from July 1st to 10th, these being located as follows: A, Tarboro; B, Kinston; D, and E, Goldsboro; F, Fayetteville; G, Washington; H, Clinton; I, Edenton; K, Wilson; L, Lumber Bridge; ;M, Wadesboro; band, Kinston; hospital corps, Clinton. The cost of this movement, including transportation, subsistence and pay, is about $20,000, the War Department meeting all of this. The First Regiment and the Third have had tours of duty, one in Virginia and the other at Chickamauga.

Congressional Convention.

The Sixth District Congressional Convention will meet tomorrow noon at Wrightsville Beach in the auditorium of the Seashore Hotel. While there are no contests at this convention, some interest will attach to the appointment of delegates to the Denver National Convention and to the appointment of the Executive Committee for the ensuing two years. While the delegations will be small from the several counties, it is expected that there will be a sufficient number of delegates to give an enthusiastic endorsement to Congressman Godwin who will have no opposition for renomination.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Important Meeting Held Yesterday Noon—Site For Custom House—President Winders Will be Invited.

At a special called meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held yesterday noon a committee of business men was appointed to confer and co-operate with representatives of the government in the location of the proposed new Custom House for Wilmington, a very cordial invitation was extended through a committee to President John H. Winders and Mr. Thos. F. Ryan, of the Clinchfield Coal Corporation, which is building the South & Western Railroad, to visit Wilmington and inspect the terminal facilities offered here, and resolutions of thanks were adopted to those responsible for the excellent treatment Wilmington received at the hands of the recent session of Congress.

The meeting was called to order by President Taylor, who stated the object and suggested the appointment of a committee to co-operate with representatives of the government in the matter of the location of the new Custom House, incidentally paying high tribute to Collector B. F. Keith, whom he said had stood alone in his fight for this great public improvement and had won. Mr. Keith thanked Mr. Taylor for his kindly references and said credit was also due Messrs. L. B. Rogers and H. L. Vollers, who had accompanied him on one of his trips to Washington and had assisted him greatly with the project. Mr. Keith referred briefly to the usual steps taken by the government in the location of public buildings and said that the people of Wilmington should meet the government squarely and fairly on the proposition. If there was any attempt to "hold up" the government in the purchase of any particular site, it should be remembered that the government had the right of condemning property for its purposes. Mr. William Calder was not certain whether the government could condemn property unless by consent of the sovereign State, but this should be settled so that property owners might know that they could not mulct the government in providing this great public improvement.

Messrs. D. L. Gore, P. Pearsall and others discussed the matter and finally upon motion of Mr. Sam Bear, seconded by Mr. Gore, the president appointed the following committee to confer and co-operate with the government in securing the most eligible and most advantageous site for the public building, viz: Messrs. B. F. Keith (Chairman), Sam Bear, W. H. Sprunt, M. J. Heyer and H. C. McQueen.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted upon introduction by the president:

"Resolved, That while this Chamber recognizes and wishes to make public acknowledgement of the valuable services rendered by the entire North Carolina delegation in Congress in procuring an appropriation for a public building in Wilmington, it is nevertheless due that special recognition be made to Senator Lee S. Overman and Representative H. L. Godwin for their assiduous and successful labors in this behalf. To Senator Overman we are especially indebted for introducing the bill carrying an appropriation of $400,000.00, and to Representative Godwin for his efforts to retain this amount before the House Committee, and to both of them for their valiant fight before the Conference Committee which resulted in an appropriation of $300,000.00.

"Resolved, That this resolution be furnished the press, and that a copy be sent to Senator Overman and Representative Godwin."

A vote of thanks was also given Collector Keith for his energetic and highly successful efforts towards securing the new Custom House. This was upon motion of Mr. U. M. Robinson, seconded by Mr. W. B. Cooper. The courtesy of the floor of the Chamber of Commerce was extended to members of the State Cotton Manufacturers' Association, which is now in session at Wrightsville Beach, the invitation being accepted by Mr. D. L. Gore, a member of the Association.

Mr. W. E. Worth adverted to the fact that the city of Charlotte had recently extended an invitation to President John H. Winder and Mr. Thos. F. Ryan to visit that city and suggested the propriety of Wilmington's extending a similar invitation for obvious reasons. The president was authorized to appoint a committee of three with Mr. Worth as chairman, to extend this invitation and it will go forward within the next few days.

Returns From Trinity College.

Mayor William E. Springer returned last night from Durham where he has been in attendance upon the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees and attending the commencement exercises at Trinity College. The Mayor returned a day earlier than he expected on account of pressing business engagements of a public and private nature. He says the commencement was one of the best on record and the affairs of the institution are in excellent condition.

MILL MEN TO MEET

The Cotton Manufacturers' Association of North Carolina to Assemble Here.

THE OFFICERS ARE ARRIVING

Further Curtailment of Production Will be Recommended—Trip Down the River on Revenue Cutter Seminole.

The annual convention of the Cotton Manufacturers' Association of North Carolina will be called to order this morning at 10 o'clock in the auditorium of the Seashore Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, President R. M. Miler, Jr., of Charlotte, presiding. The session will continue for two days and is expected to be one of the most important held by the manufacturers in some years.

President Miller and Secretary W. L. Myrick, both of Charlotte, arrived at the Seashore yesterday, and have all the arrangements for the convention well in hand. The Association is composed of 190 of the 230 cotton mills in North Carolina, exclusive of knitting mills, and any action taken will be of vast concern to the cotton mill business of the State. The special subject to be considered at this meeting will be the curtailment of the product of the mills until market conditions are more satisfactory. It will be recalled that at a meeting of the executive committee held some time ago in Charlotte it was recommended that the mills close down during the monthh of May and June. A great many of the factories did so and others curtailed the product by operating only on half time. A few weeks ago conditions improved some so far as orders were concerned, but it is stated that this improvement was only temporary and remedial measures are quite as much needed as they were when the first action was taken.

Mr. Miller stated yesterday afternoon that in his annual report to the Association today he would recommend extending this curtailment to certainly August 1st, if not to September 1st. Such action on the part of the mill men is, of course, regretted but Mr. Miller states that with the vast majority of mills the operatives can best stand a suspension at this season of the year and it is absolutely necessary to the manufacturers that something be done to restore more satisfactory conditions. Some mills, of course, that have orders ahead can and have afforded to keep their plants in operation but it is regarded as necessary now to continue this curtailment, at least on the part of those who cannot market their output at satisfactory prices. The conditions now, he says, needs very serious attention by the Association.

During the sessions of the Association today a number of informal talks will be made by prominent business men and manufacturers as follows:

Mr. A. E. Moore—"Labor, Its Control, Management, etc."

Mr. D. L. Gore—"Advantages of a Deep Waterway to Wilmington."

Mr. J. R. Tolar—"Relationship of Mill to Commission House."

Mr. A. A Thompson—"Cotton, Cotton Exchanges, etc."

Mr M. F. H. Gouverneur—"Economy of Steam and Electric Power."

Tomorrow members of the Association will go for a trip down the river and an inspection of the splendid government fortifications at Fort Caswell on the United States Revenue Cutter Seminole, which has been kindly tendered by the Treasury Department through Collector of Customs B. F. Keith and Capt. J. H. Quinan. The cutter will leave the Custom House wharf at 9:30 o'clock in the morning and the visitors will be accompanied by a party of prominent Wilmington business men, who have been invited to make the trip with them.

It is expected that between 60 and 75 members of the Association will be present for the meeting today. Cotton mill men as a rule are busy men and cannot afford to get away at a stated time, but any action taken will be binding upon the entire membership. Among those who have already arrived for the meeting are President Miller, Secretary Myrick, Messrs. H. F. Schenck, Launsdale; W. L. Packard, Cliffside; John S. Watters, Charlotte; H. H. Straub, Charlotte; J. P. MacRae, Laurinburg; J. H. Denny, Greensboro; W. I. Henderson, of Charlotte; J. A. Crodlinger, Haw River; John R. Tolar, New York; C. A. Hunt, Lexington; R. A. McMillan, Fayetteville; F. L. Page, Greensboro; J. H. White, Graham; E. H. Williamson, Fayetteville; H. O. Clark, and W. S. Thomas, Raleigh.

ROOSEVELT'S REST.

The press of the country accepts as true the statement that after his retirement from office Mr. Roosevelt will spend a while in the jungles of Africa hunting big game. It is said he is going to do this in order to secure a much needed rest. The Washington Post, in commenting upon this decision of the President, says it should meet the approval of all fair-minded men; that the President has earned a rest, if anyone has, and he is entitled to enjoy it as he pleases; that he is so constituted that action is rest for him, and so a year's hunt for big game is restful to him.

The Post's reasoning is not good. If the President is so constituted mentally and physically that such action as a year's hunt in the jungles of Africa is rest for him then he does not need that rest, for the strenuous life he has led since he has been President and boss of his party has been nothing but restful and, in fact, enervating inaction. He has been resting these several years and so needs no rest.

That paper speaks more to the point on the matter when it says that "it is possible that the President's eager spirit is desirous of greater conquests, and not merely of rest. It may be that the excitement of the Presidential office no longer puts the keen edge on his appetite, and that newer, greater exertions will be the best tonic for him."

In further commenting on this proposed trip to the African jungle the Post says:

"If the journey were not so long and the privations so great, we should like to be in the African jungle when Theodore Roosevelt strikes it. We should lie to overhear an executive session of the jungle Senate, and find out just what measures will be proposed by the jungle folk to cope with their new and terrible foe. What advice would the rhinoceros give? Would he not feel instinctively that he was up against it? Would he not make tracks for the deeper jungle, without waiting to combine with his fellows in a campaign of obstruction and delay? And the gray wolf—would he not counsel flight? He must have heard what a terror the new hunter is to gray wolves, how he harasses them with a big stick and drives them back to their fastnesses. The elephant, it is true, might suggest a policy of conciliation. If the African beast is anything like his counterpart which carries the fortunes of the G. O. P., T. R. may find it difficult to shake off his affectionate overtures. The chances are that the President's camp will be surrounded with elephants all imploring T. R. to get on and ride. But he can shoo them away if he wants to.

"It will be a great time in the jungle—a red-letter year—and the President will doubtless be immensely benefitted by his outing. Africa will have made the acquaintance of as lively a spirit as it has known since Cecil Rhodes' day. There will be material enough in that one year's sojourn to keep the jungle folk jabbering for years to come. The rhinoceros that can exhibit a scar from Theodore Roosevelt's rifle will be the hero of the veldt. Every wild eye that has met the eye of the great American will kindle with pride—if it escape the encounter—and many a baby hippopotamus will be regaled with traditions of the fierce days when the man from America thrashed the jungle and drove its inhabitants in a thousand directions at once."

TAFT AND HIS PLATFORM.

The Taft men will go before the Republican National Convention with a platform already prepared and publicly disclosed to be that on which their candidate wishes to stand should he be the nominee of the convention. They make no secret of the fact that their draft of the proposed platform has been prepared beforehand, after consultation with Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Taft and other leaders in the administration faction of the Republican party. In other words, Mr. Taft says to his party and to his countrymen irrespective of past party affiliations that such and such are the political principles on which he stands as a candidate for his party's nomination and on which he wishes to stand as his party's standard bearer if that party should see fit to nominate him and which he would carry out as the policy of the administration were he to be the next President of the United States. We like this. It is open and above board. He and his friends make no secret of the fact that they will try to have the convention endorse certain principles and declarations as the platform of the party. There is no secrecy about it, no attempt to make it appear, that in case of his success, the question of party principles was thrashed over in committee on platform and certain declarations finally agreed upon; but he goes before the convention saying to it: "These are my political tenets, and I wish to stand on these as the nominee of my party." The openness with which the Taft men have gone into this matter will give weight to his candidacy, whether or not all of his declared party principles meet the approval of the majority of the nominating convention.

SHOULD BE LABELED.

"The next time this paper tries to be funny, it will employ a man to write the item who is a humorist, or will label the article. "This is a ojke.—News and Observer.

The above is in reply to a comment by the Star on a tale in the News and Observer of recent date about the proposed establishing of a floating bar on the waters near Wilmington outside State jurisdiction.

The Observer found it had given credence to an absurd statement and adopts the above means to get out of the ridiculous position in which some thoughtless member of its staff had placed it. Of course now it is to be looked upon as a joke, but it should have been so labeled when published, for without such label it was calculated to cause a great many readers of that paper—all, in fact not conversant with the fine sense of humor of the member of the paper's staff who wrote the article—to believe that the people of Wilmington were so determined to circumvent teh law of the State as to attempt to resort to this desperate as well as absurd means to do so. Yes, by all means, head as "A Joke" any such columniu you publish in future on the people of Wilmington.

That was a mighty unkind fling the Charlotte Chronicle made at Charleston the other day when in reply to the News and Courier statement that "More newspaper men attend church in Charleston than in any other city," it said, "it's a case of that or nothing in Charleston." We thought the Chronicle had more regard for the feelings of others than to give a neighbor such a solar plexus.

"The man who thinks the country will go to the demnition pow-wows if his favorite is not nominated will find that no one man is essential to the welfare of the country."—News and Observer.

The New and Observer must be preparing itself for the disagreeable task of supporting some other Democratic candidate than Mr. Bryan.

Speaker Cannon gets around the alternative of either using free passes or paying railroad fare by touring in his automobile. We should think it less comfortable than railroad traveling and about as expensive, if not more so than purchasing interchangeable mileage books.

CURRENT COMMENT.

If Mr. Bryan will talk the Constitution and the tariff there is hope of his election. If he dwells on financial topics, such as the banks and currency, he will get left again. All questions which involve arithmetical calculation are sealed books to his mind. Of political economy and the laws of supply and demand he is as ignorant as he is of Sanscrit. And that ignorance is shared by four-fifths of the leaders of both parties. —Virginian Pilot.

—The insurance of bank deposits as a part of government control and regulation of national banks is sure to come. Oklahoma has already established the system for all her State banks. Mr. Fowler and Mr. Williams both incorporated the insurance of deposits in their currency bills. The tax proposed by Mr. Wiliams for accumulating a deposit insurance or guarantee fund was one-eigth of one per cent. The tax or insurance premium necessary to guarantee deposits seems absurdly low. The disaster comes not from the real danger but from panicky apprehension. Remove the cause of apprehension by mutual insurance, the government to hold the premium and runs on banks will be at an end.—Charlotte Chronicle.

—Wiliam F. Sheean, chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic National Committee in 1904, writes to Mr. Bryan that the money sent to Nebraska came from the general fund of the committee. That does not prove that Thomas Fortune Ryan did not contribute $15,000 or $20,000 to the committee, with the purpose that the committee give it to the Nebraska Democrats. It does not prove that the requirements of the Nebraska Democrats were not brought home to Ryan; that an appeal was made to him. The New York World suggests to Mr. Bryan that he ask Mr. Ryan directly if he contributed the money, and that Mr. Ryan would answer. Why should he answer any other than Mr. Bryan? Only Mr. Bryan protests against the contribution—protests by offering to return it.—News and Courier.

An interesting phenomenon is the destruction, by orders from health boards, of immense quantities of strawberries and other perishable food in Northern cities, where the commission merchants have been unable to sell the overstock at even two or three cents a quart. Is it not possible that if these berries had been offered for sale in Southern home markets, at really low prices as of old, the result would have been a profit to the farmer in stad of the heavy loss which he has sustained in his eagerness to play for high prices in the North? How many times have stawberries been offered at retail at a price as low as five cents a quart around here this season? Similarly, we note that hundreds of thousands of pounds of American meats are being shipped back from Europe, because the foreign markets are overstocked and the American market yields better returns. The business of despising the local market to play for the outside market may be overdone.—Norfolk Landmark.

—Every Democrat in North Carolina who has the party's interest at heart deplores the altogether unnecessary friction which has been caused by the over-zealous friends of the two leading candidates for Governor. The contest between Mr. Kitchin and Mr. Craig has aroused a feeling of bitterness between members of the party that can only do the party harm, and that, too, when a united front to the common enemy is greatly to be desired. Not only have individual suporters of these gentlemen been guilty of saying and doing things calculated to widen the breach, but some of the Democratic press of the State are furnishing good copy for Republicans in their zeal for their respective favorites, in the event the man at whom their venom is aimed is nominated. Little seeming irregularities are exaggerated and paraded before the public as grave offenses with no regard for the amenities and what effect it will have on the party's future. This, to us, smacks strongly of the "rule or ruin" disposition and has no place in the Democratic party.—Rocky Mount Record.

—That eminent churchman, Cardinal Logue is a man of such thoughtfulness and high character that, though a prelate of the Catholic Church, his opinions upon whatever subject he may see fit to entertain any are entitled to the respect of men of all sects, and even of those who claim no sect. His recent visit to the United States was of marked importance, and will have considerable influence upon members of his faith in this county, but he left them with a message for teh people of whatever religion. The cardinal was pleased with America, and predicted for us the great future which we, as a nation, so confidently expect. But he qualified his prediction to some extent. We are to realize that future, he thinks, if we are true to the ideals of the men who founded the republic. And, like other foreigners who have come to view us without prejudice, he has seen clearly our faults, the shoals upon which we are drifting, and has not hesitated to lay stress upon the importance of our heeding certain danger signals. It is a striking thing that all our unprejudiced and wisest critics have laid their fingers upon the same spot in our national life and pronounced it a blight. We have forgotten simplicity and are inclining to misuse of our prosperity and power. Out of this turning of our backs upon the simple, fundamental things of our life has come what the cardinal regards as our greatest national evil —divorce. "The greatness of any country," says the eminent prelate, "must be measured by the strength and purity of its home. Divorce disrupts the home."—Washington Post.

A Matter of Temperament.

By TRAY ALLISON.

Copyright, 1907, by Homer Sprague.

"Am I the joy to your soul that you are to mine, Roger?"

Cynthia's drawling voice could lend itself to bits of sarcasm in a way that would have maddened a less inflammable person than Roger Somers.

Roger was enveloped in a scowl that made it seem incredible he could ever have entertained thoughts of being the joy of anybody's soul, Cynthia's own particular soul being beyond the limits of possibility.

"Did you—address me?" His coolness added decidedly to Cynthia's interest. She raised herself in the hammock and arranged the cushions with the care of one who is determined to get comfort out of life.

"I was trying my voice sweetly. It's been growing rusty for the last hour."

Roger sat stolidly on the doorstep, his back eloquent with offended dignity.

"One labors under such an inconvenience in addressing the back of one's audience."

The audience, however, kept its eyes upon a distant spot on the lawn, trying to concentrate its mind upon the exact spot where the driveways met and wondering why the place didn't seem the bit of heaven it had appeared a week before upon entering through that driveway to become one of Mrs. Keener's guests.

"I feel such an inclination to—er—babble, Roger, that if you don't mind I will continue to put it into sentences for—er—my own entertainment. Do you mind my saying that I never have seen such a bunch of dignity as your back represents? I cannot, without making an effort that the warmth of the day forbids, see more of you than the back of your blue serge coat, a slight glimpse of profile and the tips of your patent leathers where the sun strikes them."

She leaned back in the hammock shamelessly convulsed with her own wit. It was clearly evident that Cynthia was enjoying herself.

"Well, if you are waiting for an answer to that psychological problem you propounded"—Roger sat erect, delighted with the alliterative impressiveness of his opening remark—"we can probably reach the answer with less difficulty if we go about it logically. The statement that I am a joy to your soul—we will let that remain undisputed until it is clearly proved that you have a soul."

Cynthia looked at him in frank delight, an appreciative smile curving her lips. She thought it possible the audience might face her soon, so she changed the cushions and put the rose colored one next her face.

"You have such a beautiful flow of language, Roger"—there was a sweetness in her voice that caused the audience to turn and look at her quickly to discover the possibility of latent sarcasm—"I often wish I could talk."

"Good Lord"—his fervor left no doubt as to his sincerity—"is it really a fact that you have recently lost your voice? I thought you were merely joking."

"You had sulked for an hour. I might as well talk to a stone wall as the back of a serge coat. Now, I admit cheerfully that I have a fiendish temper. You, according to your own showing, are never moved by a stronger or less meritorious feeling than righteous indignation. As for me—Roger, did you ever see me when I was really angry?"

That Cynthia was an adept at facing an audience no one of her acquaintances would have denied. Perhaps the possession of an adorable nose and a fluffy mass of curly hair strengthened her innate self confidence. Anyway, Roger, having once looked, had a feeling that he had in some way weakened for the fray—not that he intended giving Cynthia any inkling of the slight feeling of mollification that stole over him, but the ruffles fell around her forearm in a most distracting manner.

His eyes softened into pity, the poor girl had had so little opportunity for learning self control. Taking a course as a trained nurse had at one time been her fad—not that she ever expected to be one, but because a desire for knowledge and an everlasting propensity for making experiments seemed to have been born in her.

Roger in the depths of his soul had always disapproved of trained nurses. Her last escapade had completely convinced him that there was nothing more unsuited for a woman than such a profession.

Was there any other circumstance, he asked himself, that would have made it seem proper to Mrs. Keener's household that Cynthia should sit in that man Harding's room all the morning, administering little doses of medicine simply because Harding's cold had given him a fever that made him talk out of his head?

Mrs. Keener or one of the servants could have given that medicine.

"I was sorry not to go rowing with you last evening. The moonlight on that river is something one doesn't see always."

There was an expression in her eyes that was reminiscent.

Roger broke off viciously the piece of honeysuckle vine that had been tickling the back of his neck.

"There were perhaps other things that appealed to you more," coldly.

"You know I prefer rowing," insinuatingly.

"Perhaps, if Harding had been well enough to do the rowing—not that I believe he's sick enough to amount to anything," refusing to give an iota of doubt as to Harding's general duplicity of nature.

"He talked out of his head—all about a girl." She shamelessly broke all rules of etiquette as to confidence between nurse and patient.

Roger's increased scowl annihilated the possibility of belief that he ever had been or ever could be a joy to any soul.

"That's exactly what I thought he was raving about," hotly—"all about loving a girl."

"It was evidently a very nice girl—he called her dearest—I think he even referred to her as—er—an angel." The childishness of her smile seemed insufficient cause for the symptoms of apoplexy Roger was exhibiting.

"And you sat there all the morning and let that idiot make love to you"—His sentence was swallowed in a snort of disgust.

Cynthia glanced at the writing pad near her, wondering if it would not be salutary to Roger's manners if she forgot his existence and wrote letters the rest of the morning.

As the scratching of her pen became more noticeable the audience thought it owing to its dignity to disperse and walked across the lawn toward the gate, its hands stubbornly in its pockets.

Roger leaned over the gate disconsolately. She had seemed so different the last time they had been on the river. She had really come so near saying everything he wanted her to say that he had walked around for hours afterward in a state of ecstasy.

He tried to possess his soul in patience, waiting for the next evening, when she had promised to go with him on the river and perhaps say exactly what he wanted her to say. Roger considered it a piece of malignity of fate that Harding—that idiot Harding—should have been taken so ill, or at least should have pretended he was so violently ill. The soreness of his heart added a suggestion that Cynthia probably jumped at an escape from giving him the answer he was so anxious for.

The pleasant odor from the honeysuckle vines that clambered over the hedge, the effect of the soft breeze that gradually fanned some of the heat from his brow—something induced him to saunter slowly toward the veranda. Cynthia had probably, he thought, had time to finish her letter in the half hour that had elapsed.

He saw that she was fast asleep. Evidently she had not been worrying much. There was a note conspicuously addressed and conspicuously pinned on a ruffle of the rose colored cushion.

He reached for it with an eagerness he would never have allowed the waking Cynthia to behold. Perhaps, after all, she might be amenable to reasoning; her somewhat flighty nature might gain sobriety from contact with him. Cynthia with a slight addition of sobriety—he gave a sigh that intimated it was more bliss than one man could properly realize. His fingers were nervous as he tore the note from its envelope.

"Joy of my soul," it ran, "your moods are truly a delight. They afford all kinds of opportunities for studies in human nature. After all, we are rather much alike, a mere matter of temperament, I suppose. If you prefer calling yours righteous indignation I don't mind. Mine can still go under the name of plain temper.

"He was really sick, Roger, and the girl he raved about he called Helen. I am awfully fond of rowing and am ready to go on the river any time, whether the sun is shining broiling hot or the moon as it was the other night, just as soon as your righteous indignation calms down to a degree that would make it safe for a person to get within ten feet of you."

Roger leaned over into the depths of the hammock, his face well mixed with pink cushion and sleeve ruffles.

"Wake up, Cynthia," he whispered. "I'm in a heavenly frame of mind."

Blond Indians.

One of the mysteries of Mexico is presented by the Maya Indians, who inhabit the Sierra Madre mountains in the lower part of Sonora. They have fair skins, blue eyes and light hair, and students of ethnology have always been puzzled to account for them. There is a tradition, however, that these Indians are the descendants of the crew and passengers of a Swedish vessel wrecked on the Mexican coast centuries before Columbus discovered the new world. But this tradition is founded on nothing more substantial than a folklore tale current among them that their ancestors came over the big salt water hundreds of moons ago.

A Frog of Peculiar Habits.

South America has a frog of peculiar habits. Dwelling in the virgin forests, at the tops of the highest trees, it chooses as a site for its nursery some hollow stump and then proceeds to line it with resin procured from trees in the neighborhood. This lining serves to catch and hold the rainwater, with which it quickly becomes filled. As soon as this takes place the eggs are laid therein, and here they undergo development into tadpoles. How the resin is collected is a mystery, nor is it yet known how the separate pieces become welded to form the water tight basin necessary to insure the safety of the treasures deposited therein.

Something of That Kind.

"Young man," said the serious gentleman, "did you ever pause and think that each tick of the clock brings you another moment nearer to the end of your existence?"

"I was thinking of something of that kind this very minute," cheerfully replied the youth, "only the idea struck me that each tick brought pay day that much nearer."

FIREMEN'S MEMORIAL SERVICE.

Programme Arranged For Exercises at Academy Next Sunday.

Tuesday evening there was a special meeting of the committee appointed to arrange the details of the Firemen's Memorial Service next Sunday afternoon at the Academy of Music and an interesting programme for this solemn occasion was adopted. The exercises will be especially appropriate and will be a tribute to the members of the active and late Wilmington volunteer department, relatives of whom are particularly requested to be present. The public is also cordially invited and the service will doubtless be largely attended.

Another Movement For a Park.

With the recurrence of Summer and the imperative need again before the public, it is learned that another effort will be made toward establishing at some convenient point a park and playgrounds for the children of the city especially. Many of those behind the movement have despaired of action by the city government and are now endeavoring to interest a sufficient number of public spirited gentlemen to finance the enterprise for which there is such crying need. More of the details of the plan will be given later.

BOLD ROBBERY ENACTED.

Negro Entered Home of Mr. Selecman and Made Away With Cash.

A bold robbery Monday afternoon at the home of Mr. E. H. Selecman, at the corner of Dock and Seventh streets, created considerable excitement in that community. A negro boy apparently about fifteen years of age entered the house and crawled under a bed to conceal himself until he had an opportunity to accomplish his purpose of robbery. However, by some means the discovery was made by one of the ladies, who were alone in the house and the alarm was given. Constable Savage was the first to reach the residence, but in the meantime the negro had secured a purse that was lying very near at hand and jumping from the side window, ran down Seventh street and was last seen when he dashed down an alley a short distance away. He made a hurried escape and the officers have been unable to gain a clue that would lead to his arrest.

The negro entered the home in open daylight. The boldness of the affair is puzzling and evidently proved that he was a novice, or otherwise badly frightened, due to the fact that a very valuable diamond ring lying near the purse was untouched. The robbery caused intense excitement and the police are extending every effort to apprehend the intruder.

"The bride's only attendant will be her sister, Miss Elsie Boylston, who will be maid of honor. The groom's best man will be his brother, Mr. Uel Robinson, of Wilmington, N. C.

"After the ceremony an informal buffet luncheon will be served, after which Mr. Robinson and his bride will leave immediately for their wedding trip."

MARRIED LAST NIGHT.

Mrs. Lillian Duffy Attractive Bride of Mr. Robt. Montgomery.

At the parsonage of Trinity M. E. Church last night at 10 o'clock a quiet but very attractive wedding ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. W. L. Rexford, uniting in marriage Mrs. Lillian Duffy, the attractive young daughter of Mrs. Mary J. Fowler, of Masonboro Sound, and Mr. Robert W. Montgomery, a popular young Wilmingtonian and a son of Mr. R. A. Montgomery, of this city.

The wedding was attended only by a few intimate friends and relatives, who extended happiest felicitations to the young people upon the conclusion of the pretty service, after which they left on the 10 o'clock suburban car for their future home on Masonboro Sound.

A weding of unusual interest was that which took place at the home of the bride's parents in Washington City at noon yesterday of Miss Juliette Williams, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. R. Williams, of that city, to Joseph Leiter, son of the late Levi P. Leiter, of Chicago and Wahhington.

The failure of the Raleigh morning paper to refer to the Raleigh League team as "Red Sox," terming them "Red Heads" instead, has brought about "strained relations" between the paper and the management of the team to that extent that the newspaper force have returned all passes to the games, the local men paying their way with the declaration that they will apply whatever names they please to the team. The name Red Sox was chosen in a contest for the best name engineered by the Evening Times.

COMING OF THE FIREMEN.

Decorations Appear—The Carnival—Street Exhibitions.

Upon every hand one finds admonitions that Firemen's Week is upon us. Yesterday a number of Front street establishments were decorated in a welcome of the gallant laddies of the State and this scheme will be continued up and down the street for the balance of the week, so that by Monday a holiday appearance will be presented by the more progressive merchants and business men of the city.

Work was begun yesterday on the "Fire and Flame" exhibition that will be put on during the week on lower Market street by Mr. W. S. Layton. Capt. J. W Johnson, late of the Coney Island fire corps, arrived yesterday to assist Mr Layton with this big enterprise which will be given as a benefit for the Wilmington firemen.

Arrangements are also going right ahead for the Red Men's Carnival, the attractions for which will be furnished by the Johnny Jones Carnival Company. This aggregation has been seen in many towns in North Carolina the present season and has always given fine satisfaction. The town is being filled for these attractions which will be here for the entire week.

MARRIED LAST EVENING.

Miss Mabel Alexander the Bride of Mr. Thomas E. Hayes.

A pretty wedding ceremony was solemnized yesterday evening at 6 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. King, No. 815 Orange street, when Miss Mabel Alexander, an attractive young woman of Topsail Sound, was led to the altar by Mr. Thomas E. Hayes, of Rocky Point, and they were united in marriage in a pretty ceremony by the Rev. A. D. McClure, D. D., pastor of Saint Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Only a few friends and relatives were invited and these extended happiest feliciations after the ceremony, Mr. Hayes and bride repairing immediately to the A. C. L. station, whence they took their departure for Rocky Point, their future home, where an elaborate reception was tendered last night.

Among those from out of the city to attend the ceremony were two brothers of the groom, Mr. S. G. Hayes, of Charleston, S. C., and Mr. G. C. Hayes, of Raleigh.

He was released from custody and the case was set for a hearing yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock. RAILWAY TRAINMEN.

Much Local Interest in Strike Now in Progress at Atlanta, Ga.

There is local interest among the Wilmington members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen in the strike of the trainmen in the employ of the N. C. & StL. railway, the headquarters of the strike being in Atlanta. It was stated yesterday that there was a strong likelihood that the conductors and engineers would join in a sympathetic strike with the trainmen and should they do so the complication would be quite interesting. Vice Grand Master Val Fitspatrick, of the Brotherhood, is in Atlanta directing the striking employes and there is much public interest in the affair.

An incident of the strike was a special sermon by Dr. Len G. Broughton, of the Tabernacle Baptist Church in Atlanta, Sunday night. He told the trainmen to stick it out and declared that should the railroad win the fight, the result would be disastrous. He planted himself squarely with the men, whom he said were being impressed.

This woman says that sick women should not fail to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she did.

Mrs. A. Gregory, of 2355 Lawrence St., Denver, Col., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was practically an invalid for six years, on account of female troubles. I underwent an operation by the doctor's advice, but in a few months I was worse than before. A friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it restored me to perfect health, such as I have not enjoyed in many years. Any woman suffering as I did with backache, bearing-down pains, and periodic pains, should not fail to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

NEGROES FOR TRESPASS.

Bathers Tried Yesterday Morning Before Justice Furlong.

Changing the charge from indecent exposure to simple trespass, seven negro boys arrested Monday at the city rock quarry pond and placed in jail in default of bond, were given trial yesterday morning before Justice Furlong and on account of this being the first occasion these defendants had been indicted on this charge, judgment was suspended and they were permitted to go after paying the costs. Only two of these were unable to pay and they were sent to the county roads to work out the amount.

Constable Savage visited in the locality of the pond again yesterday morning, but the raid of Monday was sufficient warning to others guilty of this misconduct.

A BIG POSTAL ROBBERY

Pouch in Transit From Kansas City Union Station to Postoffice Containing $100,000 is Missing.

—Officials Reluctant.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Los Angeles, Cal., June 10.—Reluctant admissions made by Postal Officers of three cities today confirm to some extent the belief that the disappearance of a registered mail pouch, somewhere within the jurisdiction of the Kansas City postoffice last Saturday night will prove to be one of the largest losses in the history of the postoffice department. From private sources it was learned today that a package of at least $50,000 in currency was among the contents of the pouch which carried, in addition an unusually large number of letters and packages containing money and other valuables. The amount may reach a total of $100,000.

The pouch was in transit from Los Angeles to New York, and the postal inspectors refused any explanation of the manner in which it became lost to sight. That a pouch of value has disappeared was admitted today by the Department at Washington, by Postmaster M. H. Flint, of Los Angeles, and by Inspector W. J. Vickery, attached to the Kansas City postoffice The fact that the mail in process of transfer from Union Station at Kansas City, is handled in a temporary sub-station, since the destruction of the regular branch by fire several months ago supports the theory that advantage was taken of conditions presumed to have to be more lax than ordinarily.

There is reason to believe that the $50,000 package of currency was a shipment made by a Los Angeles bank to its New York correspondent. Postmaster Flint, of Los Angeles, stated that it would be impossible to estimate the total contents of the missing pouch until the holders of receipts issued on the day of shipment made affidavit as to the valuables mailed. Cashier Seyler, of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank tonight said:

"According to our information a mail pouch made up here on June 3rd and leaving for New York, on the following morning has disappeared. A conservative valuation of the currency contents, furnished by this and other banks of this city will be $50,000. The total amount is made up of between 40 and 50 packages. Our correspondent at New York is the Chemical National Bank, to whom our portion of the shipment was consigned."

The regular pouch left Los Angeles over the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe on the morning of June 4th, and was due in Kansas City Saturday.

Leaves for Asheville, N. C.

The many friends of Mrs. James Yates, wife of Adjutant James Yates, of the Salvation Army post here, will regret to know that yesterday there was so little improvement in her condition that under the advice and through the co-operation of many friends in Wilmington it was decided necessary for her to go to Asheville, N. C., to spend some time with the hope that she would regain her health. She was accompanied by Adjutant Yates and while at Asheville will receive treatment from a noted specialist there.

Deserves Strong Patronage.

The excursion to Carolina Beach tomorrow by the Willing Workers, a charitable organization, of the Advent Christian Church, deserves hearty support, even more so than many other of the pleasure trips to the Beach this Summer. An insight to the effective way in which they have contributed their funds appears from the fact that during the past year they have visited and assisted over 100 objects of charity. Those who take advantage of this outing will give help to a worthy organization.

W. R. Hearst made good gains yesterday in the re-count of ballots in the disputed mayoralty election of 1905. The examination of the contents of 99 boxes during the day gave him a net gain of 53 votes. The ballots in 390 boxes have been examined in the proceedings before Justice Lambert and Hearst has gained 188 votes.

Irene II., owned by S. W. Granberry, of New York, crossed the finishing line of the Gravesend to Bermuda motor race at 11:15 A. M. yesterday, New York time. I had one foot in the grave, but Electric Bitters put it back on the turf again, and I've been well ever since." Sold under guarantee at R. R. Bellamy's drug store. 50c.

HIS BRIDE STOLEN.

Sensational Story of a Man on Bridal Tour in South Carolina.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Spartanburg, S. C., June 10.—W. F. Burns, of Jackson county, North Carolina, while on a bridal trip across Panther mountain in Greenville county says he was robbed of his pretty young wife by a gang of six men, after he had been bound, beaten and robbed. He and his wife stopped at a cottage in the mountains and during the night the men entered the room of the couple, attacked Burns and took his wife down the mountain. He says he has not seen her since. The authorities are investigating his story.

A Testimonial For Veracity.

"It's a moighty foine thing to have a character for truthfulness," remarked O'Grady when he returned home the other evening.

"Indade an' it is that same," agreed Mrs. O'Grady, with an approving nod, as she hauled one child out of the fender and scraped the cinders off his frock. "An' what makes ye say that, Phelim?"

"'Cause me master belaves in me veracity intoirely," was the response of Phelim. He lighted his short pipe and took his accustomed seat on a broken chair near the chimney. "I tould him this morning that I couldn't help being late an' that I had run a moile in a minute an' a half to get there in toime. An' what do ye think he said?"

"Mebbe that ye desarved another sixpence a week."

"Better than that. These are his very words. 'O'Grady,' ses he, 'Oi wud just as soon belave ye if ye sed ye had done it in half a minute.' So ye see what faith he has in me veracity intoirely."—London Answers.

Reading the Face.

Restless eyes denote a deceitful, designing disposition; greenish eyes mean falsehood, malice and a love of scandal; blue eyes tell of tendency to coquetry; black eyes mean a lively, spirited and sometimes deceitful character; eyes with a yellowish, bloodshot white usually betoken strong emotions and hot temper; gray eyes mean dignity and intelligence and brown eyes a tender, true, kind and happy nature. A mouth had better be too large than too small, for a very small, pursed up mouth is seldom significant of good conversational power. Large mouths are more often found in conjunction with liberal dispositions than very small ones. A person with a pointed chin is fanciful, refined in taste and difficult to please. A broad, square chin signifies ardent love, often accompanied by jealousy. A broad, round chin means ardent love, with a steadfastness and purity of affection.

When Did You Oil Your Watch?

When did you oil your watch last? Never? You may remember when you lubricated your sewing machine, typewriter, lawn mower or grindstone—within a year, probably—but your watch you never oiled, that you can remember. Yet in a period of eighteen months the balance wheel turns on its axis 13,996,800,000 times. Expert watchmakers say that a watch should be thoroughly cleaned and oiled every eighteen months. Many persons wear a watch for years, winding it up each night, and never oil it. Watches are instruments of uncertain age; some run indefinitely, keeping accurate time, without need of repairs. As a matter of fact, nothing is so neglected as this small, delicate and useful instrument. —North American.

To ward off Bright's disease or diabetes.
Doan's have done great work in Wilmington.

Mrs. W. W. Mince, 706 S. Fifth St., Wilmington, N. C., says: "I am very thankful to Doan's Kidney Pills for the great benefit I received from their use. For a long time I was a victim of kidney trouble. The kidney secretions were so frequent in action at night that I was forced to get up several times and they also contained a heavy sediment. My back ached constantly and some days I could hardly get about to do my housework. I heard so much about Doan's Kidney Pills that I purchased a box at Robert R. Bellamy's drug store and began using them. They helped me more than anything I had ever taken, strengthening my back and kidneys, and in fact, invigorating my whole system."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

THE STRENUOUS LIFE.

One Day's Work of a Sixteenth Century Law Student.

If law students of the present day are laboring under the delusion that when the world was younger there was less law to study and more relaxation for young men of their class, let them read the following extract that an English contemporary has taken from the "Memoirs of Henri de Mesmes," descriptive of a day's work of a law student at Toulouse in the sixteenth century:

"We used to rise from bed at 4 o'clock, and, having prayed to God, we went at 5 o'clock to our studies, our big books under our arms, our inkhorns and candles in our hands. We heard all the lectures without intermission till 10 o'clock rang. Then we dined after having hastily compared during a half hour our notes of the lectures.

"After dinner we read as a recreation Sophocles or Aristophanes or Euripides and sometimes Demosthenes, Cicero, Virgil or Horace. At 1 o'clock to our studies, at 5 back to our dwelling places, there to go over and verify passages cited in the lectures until 6; then supper, and after supper we read Greek or Latin.

"On holy days we went to high mass and vespers; the rest of the days, a little music and walks."

SKILL OF THE ANCIENTS.

The Old Timers Apparently Did Many Things Better Than We.

"We are losing all our secrets in this shabby age," an architect said. "If we keep on, the time will come when we'll be able to do nothing well.

"Take, for instance, steel. We claim to make good steel, yet the blades the Saracens turned out hundreds of years ago would cut one of our own blades in two like butter.

"Take ink. Our modern ink fades in five or ten years to rust color, yet the ink of mediaeval manuscripts is as black and bright today as it was 700 years ago.

"Take dyes. The beautiful blues and reds and greens of antique oriental rugs have all been lost, while in Egyptian tombs we find fabrics dyed thousands of years ago that remain today brighter and purer in hue than any of our modern fabrics.

"Take my specialty, buildings. We can't build as the ancients did. The secret of their mortar and cement is lost to us. Their mortar and cement were actually harder and more durable than the stones they bound together, whereas ours—horrors!"—New York Press.

Presence of Mind.

The Duke of Wellington was writing in his library when, chancing to look up, he saw a stranger near him who had entered unheard.

"Who are you, and what do you want?" asked the duke.

"I am Apollyon and have been sent to kill you."

The nobleman realized that he had an insane person to deal with, but he was equal to the emergency. With the utmost carelessness he inquired, "Got to do it tonight?"

"No."

"I am very glad, as I am quite busy now. Just send me word before you come again, and I shall be ready for you," politely bowing the crazy person out of the room.

Shortly the fellow was safe in the bedlam whence he had managed to escape.

The Home of a Genius.

Beethoven was born in a small house in Bonn. His father had inherited the vice of drinking, and often Beethoven and his younger brother were obliged to take their intoxicated father home. He was never known to utter an unkind word about the man who made his youth so unhappy, and he never failed to resent it when a third person spoke uncharitably of his father's frailty. Young Beethoven was thus taught many a severe lesson in the hard school of adversity, but his trials were not without advantage to him. They gave to his character that iron texture which upheld him under his heaviest burdens.

The Influence of Books.

Books have always a secret influence on the understanding. We cannot at pleasure obliterate ideas. He that reads books of science, though without any desire fixed of improvement, will grow more knowing. He that entertains himself with moral or religious treatises will imperceptibly advance in goodness. The ideas which are often offered to the mind will at last find a lucky moment when it is disposed to receive them.—Samuel Johnson.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Greenville Reflector—Greenville is feeling very much let out in the world with ten passenger trains a day, six on the Norfolk & Southern and four on the Atlantic Coast Line, all of them running convenient schedules.

—Durham, June 10.—After taking 576 ballots and being in session 34 hours and 5 minutes the convention this morning at 1:05 o'clock nominated Jones Fuller for Solicitor. The final vote stood: Fuller 101.3, Gattis 67.50, Hobgood 31.47.

—New Bern Journal.—Sunday, the resignation of Rev. J. G., Garth was formally presented to the congregation of the Presbyterian church, and was accepted, the expression of the church being of regret and sorrow for the action of this beloved minister, who has endeared himself to all the citizens. The resignation takes effect July 1st.

—Greenville, N. C., June 9.—The executive committee of the board of trustees of the Eastern Carolina Teachers' Training School today awarded the contract for the building to the Building and Lumber Company, of Greenville. There were eighteen bidders, but the home firm's figures were below all the others, their bid being $81,529.87.

—Trenton, N. C., June 9.—Jones county convention met today. The official vote stands: Kitchin 1.98; Craig 1.97; Horne, .5; total, 4. No vote was taken for other State officers. C. R. Thomas was endorsed for Congressman; C. L. Abernathy endorsed for solicitor; J. W. Burton and Y. T. Ormond endorsed for the Senate; Simmons, Overman and Glenn endorsed.

—The Ansonian—A colored man, Evander McIver, of Sanford, was instantly killed at Blewett Falls last Wednesday. He was standing under a kind of overhead railway used for carrying material for the dam from one place to another, when the "skip" broke loose and the whole load fell on him, death resulted at once. The material was removed as quickly as possible and the body recovered and shipped to Sanford.

—Elizabeth City, N. C., June 9.—Half a thousand surfmen, representing the sixteen hundred members of the National Surfmen's Mutual Benefit Association, the brave guardians of the coast from Maine to California, marched to the gates of Elizabeth City yesterday and today and found them spread wide open for their admission. And still they come. Every boat and train brings in a delegation and by tomorrow the city will be in the hands of the surfmen.

—Greenville Reflector—In his speech here Friday night Mr. Kitchin frankly admitted that in 1898 he did advocate a proposition of fusion with the populists on a basis of the voting strength of the two parties. Then we fail to see why some of his zealous supporters have been rushing into print with denials of it. Of course his advocating the proposition was nothing against him, but the emphatic denials are not exactly understood. Those who wrote the denials owe somebody an apology.

—Tarboro Southerner—Twenty meembrs of the local fire department will leave next Monday to attend the Wilmington Convention. This is the last week for reel practice and the laddies will put forth every effort to win a place in these contests next week. Practice wil be held this week on Main street. The citizens of Tarboro have been liberal in assisting the boys to secure funds for the affair, and undoubtedly the Tarboro laddies will make a good showing in all the events at the Convention.

—Spencer, June 9.—The Peach Tree Mining Company, under the management of Mr. B. V. Hedrick, a former merchant in Spencer, has opened a rich vein of gold in Catawba county, ten miles south of Catawba station, which is yielding 125 tons of raw ore per day. The vein is 1,500 feet wide, several miles long and with an unknown depth. The company, which owns several thousand acres adjacent to the new mine, has just installed a new Erdman gold-washing machine with a capacity of 100 tons per day. The mine gives promise of being one of the richest in the South and the new concern will be incorporated within a few days with a capital of $150,000.

—Tarboro Leader — Messrs. allison and Thompson, two young men living near Saxapahaw were plowing one day last week and they struck something hard with the plow. Investigating, they found it to be a bucket full of gold coins. One of the coins was on exhibition at the Alamance Loan and Trust Company last week. We examined it. It was about the weight of a five dollar gold piece, dated 1776, with the English coat-of-arms and some unintelligible letters on one side and a head and the inscription, "Georgius III Rex Die Gratia," on the other. More than four hundred of these coins were found. This will total about $2,000, it is thought.

Death Was On His Heels.

Jesse P. Morris, of Skippers, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906. He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me, and death was on my heels. Then I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately, and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for cough and lung disease in all the world." Sold under guarantee at R. R. Bellamy's drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

BUG DEATH
One of the great growers of seed potatoes in Maine who has made a life study of Irish potatoes, has demonstrated beyond question that it is impossible to apply Paris Green to potato vines in any quantity without weakening the vitality of the tuber. Bug Death will not injure the plant but will stimulate its growth. It will not wash off, it is per ectly harmless to animals and people, and has a wonderful power to prevent blight, rust and those diseases so generally prevalent among melons and vegetables.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, June 10.—The cotton market today just about recovered yesterday's loss as a result of rains in the Southwest, fear of overflows, reports of a better spot demand, and covering by yesterday's sellers. The close was steady at a net advance of 13 to 17 points. Sales were estimated at 150,000 bales. The market opened steady at an advance of 9 points in response to better cables than expected and while there were slight recessions during the day, the general tendency was upward until late trading prices showed an advance of 17 to 20 points. The close was a shade off from the top as a result of realizing but at no time during the day did there appear to be any aggressive selling for short account such as was in evidence at times yesterday. The big Wall Street people who were reported to be bearing the market on Tuesday seemed to be passive during today's trading selling a little from time to time, but making no apparent effort to break prices. Wet weather in the Southwest and possibility of floods furnished ground for most of the bullish talk and there were rumors of a break in the levees along the Red river, which, however, were not confirmed. Reports of a better spot demand and the relative firmness of the near months in Liverpool attracted some attention but July here was relatively quiet and new crop months led in the upward movement.

Receipts at the ports today 12,561 bales against 15,008 last week and 5,886 last year. For the week 65,000 bales against 66,013 last week and 34,083 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 4,728 bales against 1,357 last year and at Houston 2,262 bales against 438 last year.

Spot closed quiet; middling uplands 11:40; middling gulf 11.65; sales none. Futures opened and closed steady.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, June 10.—The drygoods market ruled steady and quiet today. More buying of silk piece goods is reported for Fall delivery. Ribbons are also stronger. Cottons are more quiet with buyers holding off, having recent advices and an uncertainty about the future of distribution. Knit goods and hosiery show very little improvement.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star)

New York, June 10.—The stock market remained in a rut today, the total shares sold near the low record. Even with the shrunken total the proportion of activity in three or four of the speculative properties was maintained to the detriment in the comparison of the usual run of stocks.

Opinion of the effects on the steel market of the price cut remained much confused. There were reports from Pittsburg that consumers were disposed to look for further concessions later and so were little disposed to take hold at the present level. No gold was engaged today for export and foreign exchange experts were of opinion that the movement had terminated. Some light was thrown on the persistency of the movement in spite of the money redundancy abroad by the report that purchases had been making of gold for account of the Russian government to recuperate advances made to western Europe at the time of the money crisis in the United States. Foreign stock markets were reported somewhat disturbed over the possible extent of the Russian demands. Weather conditions were reported unfavorable for crops in the Southwest but the only reflection of this news in the stock market was the heaviness of Atchison. The day's results in the market were wholly trivial.

Bonds were steady. Total sales par value $2,744,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales today 195,500 shares.

TAFT VICTORY MADE CERTAIN

Provided The Convention Endorses The Work of The Executive Committee.

ON TEMPORARY ROLL-CALL

He Has More Than Enough Votes to Nominate—Yesterday's Work of the Committee—Hughes Not to be Presented.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Chicago, June 10.—The Republican National Committee by its work today decided contests in two States at large and in 14 districts, the net result being that 33 full votes and two half votes were added to the number already accredited to William H. Taft and that two and a half votes were given to Senator Joseph B. Foraker.

The committee has yet to consider contests at large in four States and a total of 38 district contests and two from the Territories, involving a total of 8 6votes. Before the meeting of the committee the number of delegats instructed for Taft was 387. The work of the committee as far as it has progressed has given him 117 additional votes, or a total of 504 on the temporary roll call. The number of votes necessary to elect is 491.

The chief interest of the day centered in the Ohio contests, of which there were four, namely, in the Third, the Sixth, the Tenth and the Thirteenth districts. Taft got the delegates in the Third, the Tenth and Thirteenth districts and in the Sixth district both delegations were seated with half a vote to each man.

The Foraker men made a strong fight in the last named district because it was the old home of the Senator. The Foraker delegates are Mark Shoup, of Xania, and R. L. Gilchrist, of Lebanon, while the Taft men are H. M. Brown, of Hillsboro, and Charles Q. Hildebandt, of Wilmington. The latter faction has been recognized for the last four years as regular.

The motion to divide the delegation between the Taft and Foraker men in the Sixth district came from Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts and was carried without strenuous opposition.

The contests in the Third and Tenth districts were based on factional fights, both sides to the disputes being instructed for Taft. In the Thirteenth District, the action of the Taft delegates in holding a convention of their own was sustained, and they were placed on the temporary roll call.

The day's proceedings opened with the hearing of contests from the Eleventh and the Tweftth Missouri districts, after these coming the North Carolina contests over the delegates at large and those of seven districts. These contests were heard separately. Ohio followed North Carolina and then came South Carolina where only one contest, that of the delegates at large, was heard. These went to Taft by default, and the hearing of the cases of the First and Second South Carolina districts were passed until tomorrow.

It is the hope of the national commitee that it will be able to finisn its work by Friday night. Much important work is slated for the committeee on Saturday and Monday, and it is earnestly desired that the hearings be over in ample time to allow sufficient attention to be paid to these matters.

Discussion turned today to the possible composition of the credentials committee of the convention to which many of the contests will probably be appealed. The talk centered largly around Harry M. Dougherty, of Columbus, Ohio, who arrived today Mr. Daugherty is slated for the credentials committee from his State and he may be chosen chairman of the committee when it is made up next Tuesday. Mr. Daugherty freely discussed the probable work of the committee. "I don't believe that the credentials committee will be ready to report to the convention before Thursday, June 18," said he. ""It is certain that the report will be handed to the convention Thursday morning. In that case the delegates will be able to proceed with the nominations and should be able to complete the work before adjournament on that day, thus carrying out the original programme for the convention.

The Ohio delegation it was announced will reach Chicago on Sunday and will be called into caucus Monday afternoon. At that time Mr. Daugherty will be proposed as a member of the credentials committee and it is also on the slate that Wade Ellis, Attorney General of Ohio, will be named as a member of the resolutions committee. Mr. Ellis left Washington last night, but stopped at Columbus, where according to reports, he met Senator Hopkins of Illinois, who yesterday discussed the platform question with Speaker Cannon. It was said today that Mr. Ellis, and Senator Hopkins have been in consultation concerning the platform for several days.

There was a sudden cessation of activity today regarding the vice presidential situation. This was largely due to the announcement by Frank H. Hitchcock that the Taft forces would not take part in any campaign for the second place on the ticket. The leaders of the "allies" adopted the attitude that it had not been customary for the party to consider the Vice Presidency until after the first place on the ticket had been filled and that there was no present reason to depart from this precedent. What discussion was heard centered largely about Senator Dolliver of Iowa and Secretary Cortelyou.

LaFayette Young, one of the delegates at large from Iowa, today said that the friends of Dolliver in his own State, were not anxious to see him leave the ranks of the Senators. The friends of Governor Guild, of Massachusetts, today seemed satisfied with the result of the work thuh far. There was no announcement forthcoming from the headquarters established yesterday for John Hays Hammond.

An indefinate, persistent rumor which could not be confirmed in any direction, prevailed today to the effect that Governor Hughes would not permit his name to go before the convention. This rumor coupled with an Associated Press dispatch from New York, in which Timothy L. Woodruff, chairman of the New York State Central Committee, expressed himself as believing that his State is entitled to the second place on the ticket, if Governor Hughes be not given the first place, led to much discussion as to whether the Governor of New York could not be induced to accept the vice presidential nomination.

The entire story, however, was indefinite and could not be substantiated.

DEATH OF O. H. P. BELMONT.

It Occurred Early Yesterday Morning —Anticipated for Several Days.

(By Wire to the Morning Star)

New York, June 10.—Oliver H P. Belmont, aged 50 years, died at his home in Hempstead, L. I., today after a 10 day's illness with appendicitis. His death had been anticipated for days but in the end it came suddenly and so unexpectedly that, with the exception of Mrs. Belmont, none of the members of the family had time to reach the sick room after the hurried summons was sent to them. Mr. Belmont had passed a bad night, but toward morning he appeared to be resting easily, when soon ofter 6:30 o'clock he was seized with terrible pain. Dr. Lane hurriedly called Mrs. Belmont and she had just time to reach the room before her husband's death.

Mr. Belmont has not been actively engaged in business for some years. He had always been very popular among a wide circle of friends and held a prominent position in club and social life here and in London and Paris. He was a graduate from Annapolis academy and served out his two years cruise following graduation. In 1878 he resigned to engage in business with his father and brothers. After retiring from his father's old banking firm, Mr. Belmont devoted his attention for a time to politics. He was a Democrat and in 1900 was chosen as a delegate from New York to the Democratic National Convention. The same year he was elected to Congress from the Thirteenth New York district.

Mr. Belmont's first marriage was with Miss Sarah Swan Whitney now Mrs. George Rives. His only child, Mrs. Wiliam Burden, died several months ago. His second marriage was with Mrs Alva E. Vanderbilt, who prior to her divorce was the wife of W. K. Vanderbilt.

VIRGINIA DEMOCRACY.

State Convention Today—Instruction for Bryan.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Roanoke, Va., June 10.—The Democratic State Convention which meets here tomorrow at noon will elect delegates to the Denver Convention, fram a platform of Democratic principles, choose a new State Central Committee and name electors. Indications tonight are that the meeting will be harmonious.

At a conference today in which a number of the prominent delegates took part it was decided that a resolution endorsing W. J. Bryan for the presidential nomination will be presented tomorrow and so construed that not only will the delegates be instructed for Bryan, but they will be morally bound to support the Nebraskan. It is generally conceded that United States Senator Thomas S. Martin, Governor Claude A. Swanson and former Governor J. Hoge Tyler will be three delegates-at-large to eDnver Convention. U. S. Senator J. W. Daniel, it is said, will also be the convention's choice as a delegate-at-large, but because of the fact that the Senator does not endorse fully all of Bryan's principles, and the fact that the convention may instruct fro Bryan, make it uncertain who the fourth delegate-at-large will be. Senator Daniel today declined to discuss the matter.

HENRY WATERSON IN LINCOLN.

There to Confer With Bryan—Thinks Latter Stronger Than Ever.

(By Wire to the Morning Star)

Lincoln, Neb., June 10.—Colonel Henry Watterson of Louisville arrived today as the guest of W. J. Bryan, at Fairview. Colonel Watterson admitted that "various matters of Democratic interests" would be discussed. Concerning Mr. Bryan's candidacy he said:

"I have acepted Mr. Bryan as the inevitable candidate for the Democratic party. He will be nominated on the first ballot. I think Mr. Bryan is stronger than ever and has a much better chance to win."

THE REUNION OF VETERANS

Big Day of The Annual Convention of Old Confederates.

GEN. CLEMENT A. EVANS

Elected Commander-in-Chief—Memphis the Next Place of Meeting —Magnificent Floral Parade —Old Forrest Corps.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Birmingham, Ala., June 10.—With the selection of Memphis as the place for the next annual reunion and the election of General Clement A. Evans as Commander-in-Chief to succeed the late General Stephen A. Lee, the United Confederate Veterans adjourned their annual convention tonight.

The selection of the place for the next reunion aroused great rivalry between Memphis and Atlanta, the only cities put in competition. Set speeches were made for each place, but when Virginia came over to the side of Memphis, the Atlanta supporters realized that the fight was lost.

General Clement A. Evans, the Commander-in-Chief, is one of the best loved men in the army. He is a native of Georgia, born of North Carolina and Virginia revolutionary parentage. He is a graduate of the Georgia law school and began the practice of law at 19 years of age. He was elected Judge of the county court at 22 and State Senator at 25. The Civil War began while he was State Senator and he joined a company in his county in January, 1861. He was first elected Major of the Thirty-first Georgia regiment and then promoted to Colonel. General Evans succeeded General Gordon when he was promoted to Major General and again succeeded him in command of the division. His service was in Northern Virginia, and he participated in all the battles fought on the soil of Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania. In command of his division at Appomattox he made the last fight of the war after the surrender, because he had not received notice of the truce. He has been active in the United Confederate Veterans, having attended all reunions except one. He was commander of the Georgia division for twelve years, with the rank of Major General, succeeding Lieutenant General Gordon as commander of the Army of the Tennessee Department.

The entertainment feature today was the floral parade, which aroused every visitor to applause and admiration. It was more than 20 miles long and was planned and executed entirely by Birmingham people. A mounted troop of Forrest cavalry acted as honorary escort. The parade formed on the South Highlands and marched north, disbanding after passing the grand stand around the Capitol Park. Handsome prizes had been offered for the most attractive vehicles of various kinds, and the result was all that could be wished. Notable exhibits were automobiles built to represent the various fighting ships of the Confederacy. A number of bands were in line.

The crowds in the city continued to increase today. Reunions of various regiments, brigades and commands were held in all parts of the city. One of the most notable of these was that of the Forrest Cavalry Corps, which re-elected General H. A. Tyler as commander.

An interesting feature of the convention today was the inauguration of the movement to buy the birthplace of Jefferson Davis. The Kentucky division announced that they had been working to this end for some time and asked the Veterans to take steps to acquire the property. A committee of 15 was named to investigate the feasibility of the project and report back next year. The home is located near Hopkinsville, Ky.

The Sons of Veterans adjourned for the day this morning without taking up any important business. Another session will be held tomorrow.

The scene on the downtown streets of Birmingham this afternoon was most inspiring. When the floral parade passed through the streets, which were lined with Veterans, and the bands successively struck up "Dixie," and other airs best loved in the South, the applause was deafening and tears streamed down the eyes of hundreds as the gallant remnant of Forest's Cavalry swept by.

There was great excitement in the conventional hall this afternoon when the time came to elect a new commander-in-chief. After General Irvine Walker had taken the chair General Bennett H. Young nominated General Evans in a glowing speech. General Withers nominated General Cabell.

The vote resulted: Evans 1,232; Cabell 1,084.

In the contest for the place of next meeting the result was Memphis 1,196, Atlanta 1,120.

Upon assuming command General Evans issued the following general order No. 1.

"In obedience of the mandates of my beloved comrades as expressed in convention this day, I assume command of the United Confederate Veterans. Comrade William E. Mickle is hereby appointed Adjutant General and Chief of Staff with the rank of Major General. He will immediately enter upon the discharge of his duties and will be obeyed and respected accordingly."

Following the election of Commander-in-Chief, General George W. Gordon was elected commander of the Department of Tennessee to succeed General Evans; General Irvine Walker was elected commander of the Army of Northern Virginia and General Cabell commander of the trans-Mississippi department.

The morning session of the convention was devoted chiefly to memorial exercises with General Evans as the principal speaker.

Tomorrow will be the last day of the reunion which will be brought to a close with the annual parade in which all the Veterans who are physically able will take part. This is considered one of the chief features of the reunion. The different commands will carry their tattered battleflags. The parade will be reviewed by General Evans and the department commanders.

HER FATHER'S AVENGER.

A Young Woman Shoots the Man Who Murdered Him.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Tunyea, Miss., June 10.—J. T. Lowe, an attorney, was shot and probably mortally wounded in a street here today by Mrs. Jacob Weinstein. On March 31 last Lowe shot and killed Perry A. Houston, father of Mrs. Weinstein, in a street fight growing out of Houston's election as secretary of the Yazoo levee board. Mrs. Weinstein, who is 19 years of age, was married last February to a merchant of Charleston, Miss.

Mrs. Weinstein passed Lowe in a street near his home today. After the attorney had passed she turned, drew a revolver from her waist and fired. Lowe fell with a bullet through his back. As he fell he drew a revolver, but turning and seeing that his assailant was a woman, he made no attempt to discharge his weapon.

Lowe was wounded between the shoulders, the bullet passing entirely through his body. A stud in his shirt front was struck by the bullet and forced out.

Mrs. Weinstein hurried on to her home and was later arrested. Lowe was placed on a special train and rushed to Memphis to the Presbyterian hospital. It is believed he cannot live.

Mrs. Weinstein is on the verge of collapse from hysterics. The Weinstein family is wealthy. Mrs. Weinstein has made no statement concerning her reasons for shooting Lowe. Although under arrest she has not been taken from her mother's home, which is guarded by Deputy Sheriffs.
